Two-channel shoppers are about half our customers but drive 84% of total revenue.

Three more things the data told us of all revenue comes from just the top 10% of customers. A small core carries the business.

61%

15-37%

of first-time buyers come back the next month. Most never return after one purchase.

33%

of customers have gone quiet (no purchase in 90+ days) - about £1.03M of dormant revenue.

Revenue by customer group

Four moves, ranked by impact

1 Get customers shopping both channels

The biggest lever: a customer who shops Online + Offline is worth ~5x one who doesn't. Bridge the two with click-and-collect and in-store sign-ups.

2 Protect the top 10%

This small group drives 61% of revenue. Give them VIP treatment and reach out before they lapse.

3 Fix the first month

Most first-time buyers never return. A second-purchase nudge in the first 30 days turns them into repeat customers.

4 Win back the quiet third

33% of customers are dormant - about £1.03M at stake. A targeted win-back campaign can recover real revenue.
